

THE AMERICAN BIBLIOPOLIST.

v. V

1873.

"'Old Wood to burn, old Wine to drink, old Friends to chat with, and old Books to read.' No Bibliomaniac can have a greater regard than I have for the very outside of a good book. Nor could the comfortable old King of Arragon himself feel cosier in an old Gothic Library, with the old fire at his feet, the old wine at the side of him, and the old books all round. 'Old,' like 'Book,' is a fine word to repeat."—LEIGH HUNT.
